

Authors of the Kingdom & the Townships

Saturday, August 30, 2008

Noon to 3 pm

Goodrich Memorial Library
Newport, Vermont

The hills and valleys of the Northeast Kingdom are filled with men and women who have written books. Some of them have won state and national acclaim, while others are known only in their own communities. The one thing they all have in common, though, is their love of writing.

Come to the Goodrich Memorial Library in Newport on Saturday, August 30 from 12 until 3 p.m. and meet some of the authors of the Northeast Kingdom and the Eastern Townships of Quebec. The event is hosted by Scott and Penny Wheeler of Derby, the publishers of Vermont's Northland Journal, along with the Goodrich Memorial Library in Newport. It is free and open to the public.

Authors interested in attending the event are asked to contact the Wheelers. As for the public, they are encouraged to visit the library at their leisure between the hours of the event and meet the authors and browse, and even buy, the works of the authors of the Northeast Kingdom. The Wheelers can be reached at (802) 334-5920 or by email at northlandjournal@gmail.com
