Meet Michael Pope

Educator, Designer,
Semi Pro Ice Cream Maker

Michael has returned back to his home school in Barre to put into practice what he learned working in the Design Industry after getting his Master's degree in Learning, Design, and Technology from the Stanford Graduate School of Education where he co-created tangible learning tools.

#vted is fortunate to have him return to his home school where he works daily with students in grades 6-8, helping them discover their creative capacities and grow as makers, designers, and problem solvers.
